The 2011 Florida Legislature enacted House Bill 7209 allowing individuals to manufacture, sell and store certain types of “cottage food” products in an unlicensed home kitchen.

Cottage food products include such items as breads, cakes, cookies, candies, jams, jellies, and fruit pies.

“Cottage food operations” as they are called require no license or permit from the Florida Department of Agriculture and Consumer Services (FDACS), and are not inspected by any state government entity.

Gross sales for a cottage food operation must not exceed $15,000 annually. Products must be sold directly by the cottage food operator to the consumer. Sales by Internet, mail order, consignment or at wholesale are prohibited.

Cottage food products must be labeled in accordance with the requirements as outlined in Section 500.80(5), Florida Statutes, and United States Code of Federal Regulations Title 21, Part 101.

All cottage food products, offered for sale to the general public, must be labeled: "Made in a cottage food operation that is not subject to Florida’s food safety regulations.”

The FDACS may investigate any complaint received against a cottage food operation.

The Division of Food Safety is pleased to provide cottage food operators with general and specific information contained in this document.

If you are a prospective cottage food operator, please take some time to review this guidance document so that you are better informed about cottage food operation requirements.
What Types of Cottage Foods Can I Produce?

As a cottage food operator, you are allowed to produce food items which are considered not potentially hazardous.

Florida Labeling Requirements

The cottage food law requires specific labeling requirements for the sale of cottage food products.

A cottage food operation may only sell cottage food products which are prepackaged with a label affixed that contains the following information: (printed in English)

- The name and address of the cottage food operation;
- The name of the cottage food product;
- The ingredients of the cottage food product, in descending order of predominance by weight;
- The net weight or net volume of the cottage food product;
- Allergen information as specified by federal labeling requirements;
- If any nutritional claim is made, appropriate nutritional information as specified by federal labeling requirements; and
- The following statement printed in at least 10-point type in a color that provides a clear contrast to the background label: “Made in a cottage food operation that is not subject to Florida’s food safety regulations.”

A sample is shown below and may assist with developing your cottage food product label.

Federal Allergen Labeling Information

All cottage food products must be labeled in accordance with the United States Code of Federal Regulations Title 21, Part 101. As a cottage food operator, you must identify if any of your ingredients are made from one of the following food groups: eggs, milk, wheat, peanuts, soybeans, fish and tree nuts.

In the sample label (provided at left) possible allergens are identified as “Contains wheat, eggs, milk, soy and walnuts.” This labeling allows consumers to avoid food which may be harmful to them.

Cottage Food Inspections

Know the Rules...

The FDACS may investigate any complaint received for a cottage food operation.

If your cottage food operation is the subject of a complaint, you must allow a FDACS employee or officer in your cottage food operation to conduct an inspection.

The FDACS employee or officer will inspect your cottage food operation to determine compliance with applicable laws, rules and regulations.

If you refuse to allow a FDACS employee or officer to inspect your cottage food operation, the FDACS may take disciplinary actions which may include a $5,000 fine.

More information is available on page four of this publication.
A cottage food operation must comply with all applicable county and municipal laws and ordinances regulating the preparation, processing, storage and sale of cottage food products. Below is a listing for state agency resources who may assist you in answering any questions regarding cottage foods:

Be sure to check with your local municipal, city or county government for additional requirements!

Can I Sell My Cottage Foods to Restaurants?

Cottage food operators are not allowed to sell their cottage food products to local restaurants or grocery stores. These types of sales are considered “wholesale” and are not allowed under the law.

Cottage food operators must sell their cottage food products directly to the consumer.

Can I Make Salsas or Barbecue Sauce?

Processing of low-acid foods by retort canning or processing of acidified foods is not allowed by a cottage food operator.

These types of products must be commercially processed to ensure sterility under conditions of non-refrigerated storage and distribution.

Typically, canning or processing acidified foods are done in a state permitted facility.
